

VIVUS Advances Patient Access with New Copay Assistance Program for PANCREAZE®

— Commercially-insured patients can pay as little as $0 on their copay and up to $2,000 per fill for their PANCREAZE® prescription

CAMPBELL, Calif., Feb. 11, 2026, (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – VIVUS LLC, a biopharmaceutical company committed to the development and commercialization of innovative therapies that focuses on advancing treatments for patients with serious unmet medical needs, today announced a new copay card for PANCREAZE® (pancrelipase) delayed-release capsules, a combination of porcine-derived lipases, proteases, and amylases indicated for the treatment of exocrine pancreatic insufficiency (EPI).

“Exocrine pancreatic insufficiency is a chronic condition that often requires long-term management,” said John Amos, Chief Executive Officer at VIVUS LLC. “Recognizing the ongoing nature of treatment for many people living with EPI, this copay program is designed to help reduce out-of-pocket costs for eligible patients and support access to prescribed therapy.”

Eligible patients may pay as little as $0 per prescription fill of PANCREAZE and may receive up to $2,000 in copay or out-of-pocket cost assistance per fill, subject to a maximum annual benefit of $3,500. Please visit www.pancreaze.com for full terms and conditions.

"For many patients, affordability can stand in the way of their treatment of exocrine pancreatic insufficiency. The PANCREAZE Savings Program helps reduce out-of-pocket costs and improve access to prescribed therapy for patients who may otherwise face financial barriers," said Steven D. Rubin, MD, FACP, New Horizons Gastroenterology, Garden City, New York.

Indicated for EPI, a condition where the pancreas does not make enough enzymes to digest food normally, PANCREAZE is a pancreatic enzyme replacement therapy (PERT) that replaces the digestive enzymes patients need. The PERT helps the body digest food properly and absorb fat, protein and carbohydrates, which are needed for healthy growth, weight gain and improved nutritional health. PANCREAZE does not use phthalates as an additive in its formulation. Phthalates are chemicals commonly used to make plastics more flexible and are often used in pharmaceutical coatings.

About PANCREAZE

PANCREAZE is a prescription medicine used to treat people who cannot digest food normally because their pancreas does not make enough enzymes. PANCREAZE may help your body use fats, proteins, and sugars from food. PANCREAZE contains a mixture of digestive enzymes including lipases, proteases, and amylases from pig pancreas. PANCREAZE is safe and effective in children when taken as prescribed by your doctor.

Important Safety Information for PANCREAZE

PANCREAZE is a prescription medicine that helps people digest food when their pancreas doesn't make enough enzymes.

Take PANCREAZE exactly as prescribed—usually with meals or snacks. Swallow the capsules whole, or sprinkle on soft food like applesauce.

Some patients may experience mouth irritation if not swallowed properly, allergic reactions like rash or trouble breathing, and higher uric acid levels, which can trigger joint pain or worsen gout—especially if you have kidney problems.

In rare cases, PANCREAZE may cause a serious bowel issue called fibrosing colonopathy. This has mostly been seen in children with cystic fibrosis taking high doses for a long time. A type of bowel narrowing has also been reported in kids under 12.

The most common side effects are stomach pain and gas.

Do not take PANCREAZE if you're allergic to pork or experienced intestinal blockages. Talk to your doctor if you're pregnant, breastfeeding, or have gout, kidney issues, or trouble swallowing capsules.

Talk to your doctor to see if PANCREAZE is right for you. To learn more, go to PANCREAZE.com or call 1-888-998-4887.

Forward-Looking Statements

Important Information and Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements in this press release are forward-looking within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, as amended, and/or covered by the "Bespeaks Caution" doctrine applied by the courts under the antifraud provisions of the federal securities laws, and other applicable provisions of the federal securities laws. Such forward-looking statements are based on current expectations, management's beliefs and certain assumptions made by the Company's management.
